Aging and Long Term Care in Ontario: What Do I Need To Know Now?

We invite you to attend with a guest of your choice, but strongly suggest that you consider bringing a family member – someone with whom you can discuss these important issues:

- Understand long-term care
- Establish clear legal directions
- Decide who you can count on for help
- Learn what your community has to offer
- Make sure your home remains a good fit
- Keeping the communications lines open

Network/How to Care*

Karen is a respected speaker, writer, media commentator, educator and consultant in the field of long-term care for the elderly.

CONSIDER THE FACTS

- The over-80 population is growing faster than any other.
- More than 1 in 2 individuals aged 65 today will need long-term care.
- Family members provide over 80% of eldercare.
- The average 21st-century North American is projected to spend more years taking care of aging family members than raising their children.
